- ∞ I am super grateful that The De-Coding of Jo: Hall of Ignorance has received the Queer Indie 2020 Youth Gold Award. It is such an honor to be supported by so many incredible and talented creatives on Twitter. Make sure you check out their site and add your books! <https://queerindie.com/awards/>
- ∞ On the Season 2 Podcast, Story of a Storyteller, I had a chance to connect with the charming Conor Bredin on February 15th! I had an amazing time answering his many, intuitive questions, specifically about what Spirituality means to me, metaphysics, and my writing. If you are curious, check out the amazing podcast! <https://www.conorbredin.com/lali-love-interview/?unapproved=55&moderation-hash=5129d21a5e730df767eb815d37599711#comment-55>
- ∞ It's been a great month for The De-Coding of Jo: Hall of Ignorance. My book won the SILVER medal in the Fantasy category in this year's New York City Book Awards for Self-Publishing.
- ∞ What a busy month for me as I have been writing the second book in the AAA series for The De-Coding of Jo: Blade of Truth. I am aiming to have the first developmental edit completed by the end of March for my editor. Stay tuned for the cover reveal! With work and life, my participation on social media has been limited. I appreciate everyone's support and tags on Twitter, I shall be back in full force soon!

SPOTLIGHT:

- ∞ Don't forget to check out the Writing Community Chat Show's Monthly Newsletter, supporting and showcasing poets who wish to share their work, under Love's Soul Food. If you would like to feature your poem, please subscribe and submit your entry to TheWritingCommunityChatShow@gmail.com.
- ∞ This month, we will be highlighting poetic sonatas by Rachel DK from her book, The Truth About Change and Awakening: A memoir, available on Amazon.
